

App 8 RALC Members Surveys

The RALC exec discussed how we could be more effective and nimble in both disseminating information and gathering responses from members on subjects that need our attention. Emails are slow and cumbersome to collate responses. Using IT to enable faster communications and keep staff costs down appear to be a solution. This would probably entail using systems such as Google Surveys and AI to analyse results.

Members are asked to consider this proposal and be prepared to discuss at the April RALC meeting.
